

Creative Storytelling

This approach ensures each property is not only creatively distinctive, but also built from day one to support licensing, platform promotion, and long-term audience retention.

Family First

Lunar 22's creative storytelling is built on a disciplined, audience-centric approach to family entertainment. Our teams develop narrative worlds with clear emotional anchors, distinctive characters, and strong thematic through-lines that can support multiple formats, seasons, and extensions. We focus on universal values—friendship, courage, curiosity, resilience—ensuring stories are culturally adaptable while retaining a clear and consistent brand identity.

Every concept is designed from the outset with franchise potential in mind, aligning character arcs, visual worlds, and music with future opportunities in consumer products, interactive experiences, and ancillary content. This allows our stories to live beyond a single series or format and evolve into enduring family brands. By combining creative innovation with structured narrative design, Lunar 22 delivers storytelling that captures children's imaginations, earns parents' trust, and provides partners with content that is both creatively distinctive and commercially scalable.
